THE COMPANY BEHIND THE CAR

Say hello to Dongfeng.

You may not know the name yet. Most of the world does. Dongfeng has built vehicles since 1969, employs around 127,000 people, and sits at number 188 on the Fortune Global 500, where it has appeared for more than twenty years running.

Close to 60 million Dongfeng vehicles have been built and sold, in more than 100 countries.

Dongfeng is new to Jamaica. Bert's is not.

Bert's has supplied this island with parts since 1988, roughly 120,000 of them. The first question anyone asks about an unfamiliar badge is whether they will get parts. That one is already answered.

Vehicle shown is the Dongfeng Vigo in phantom silver.

HIGHLIGHTS

The whole car, in eight lines.

471 km on a charge.

Dongfeng's CLTC figure, from a 51.87 kWh lithium iron phosphate battery.

A tailgate in two parts.

The window opens on its own in a tight garage. The lower half holds 150 kg and doubles as a bench.

Right-hand drive.

Built for roads like ours, with the driver on the correct side.

Level 2 driver assistance.

Emergency braking for people, cyclists and cars, adaptive cruise, lane keeping, a 360 degree camera.

18 minutes, 30 to 80 percent.

On a DC fast charger. Five minutes puts about 114 km back in.

500 litres of boot, plus 72 hidden.

And a rear seat that folds flat into a two metre bed.

Heat pump air conditioning.

Cools the cabin on 45 percent less energy than a conventional system, so the range stays.

7 year warranty.

Powertrain and battery to 10 years, no mileage limit. Servicing included for 3.

DESIGN

A cube, with the corners cut off.

Dongfeng calls the grille a Fun Magic Cube, and the shape is honest about what it is: a tall, square, practical car with a bold face. The door handles sit semi flush, the mirrors fold themselves when you lock, the headlamps are adaptive LEDs, and the wheels are 18 inch alloys.

A wide-angle, front-facing view of the interior of a Dongfeng Vigo. The car features a minimalist design with a large, central 12.8-inch touchscreen displaying a forest landscape. The dashboard is a continuous horizontal strip of light grey material. The steering wheel is black with silver accents and the Dongfeng logo. The seats are upholstered in black and grey leather. The center console is black and has a textured top. The side mirrors are black. The overall color scheme is dark grey and black with light grey accents.

INSIDE

A cabin with a walk through.

The centre console stops short of the screen on purpose, so a passenger can slide across and step out on the driver's side when a parking space is tight. Underneath it there is room for a handbag, a hidden cup holder, two pull out cup holders and a glasses case. The 12.8 inch screen and 8.88 inch driver display sit high, where you look anyway.

THE SEATS

Made to fit a body, not a form.

Dongfeng calls them zero pressure seats. They are shaped to the curve of the back, breathable, and supportive enough that a long drive ends without the ache. Driver and passenger seats are power adjusted.

The front seats fold almost flat, to 176 degrees, and with rest mode the air conditioning, music and seats settle together at one touch. The rear bench splits and folds, with an armrest and cup holders in the middle.

THREE NUMBERS THAT MATTER

471

km on a charge
Dongfeng's CLTC figure

18

minutes, 30 to 80 percent
on a DC fast charger

150 kg on the lower tailgate

a bench for two, a table for a picnic

Range is Dongfeng's figure on the CLTC test cycle. With the air conditioning on and highway speeds, plan on roughly 70 to 80 percent of it, which still covers Kingston to Montego Bay on one charge. Charging time is on a DC fast charger, 30 to 80 percent.

THE TAILGATE

Two doors where most cars have one.

The rear window opens on its own, so you can drop a bag in when the car is backed up against a wall or parked in a low garage. Nobody else in this class does it, says Dongfeng, and it traces the idea back to the 1930s.

Open the lower half and it becomes a bench rated to 150 kg, or a table. At the beach, at a match, at a market, it is the seat everyone ends up on.

SPACE

500 litres, 72 more
you cannot see, and a bed.

The boot holds 500 litres with a flat floor, and there is a 72 litre compartment under it for the things that should not be on show. The 2,715 mm wheelbase, with almost no overhang at either end, puts 67 percent of the car's length into the cabin.

Fold the rear seats and the floor runs flat for two metres, which Dongfeng suggests is for looking at the stars. It is also for a mattress, a fridge, or a surfboard.

CHARGING AND RANGE

Charge in the time it takes to eat lunch.

The 51.87 kWh lithium iron phosphate battery is preheated and direct cooled, and rated by Dongfeng for minus 30 to plus 50 degrees. It fast charges on a CCS2 connector at up to 154 kW, fills overnight at home on a Type 2 connector at 6.6 kW, and runs appliances the other way through vehicle to load.

18 minutes

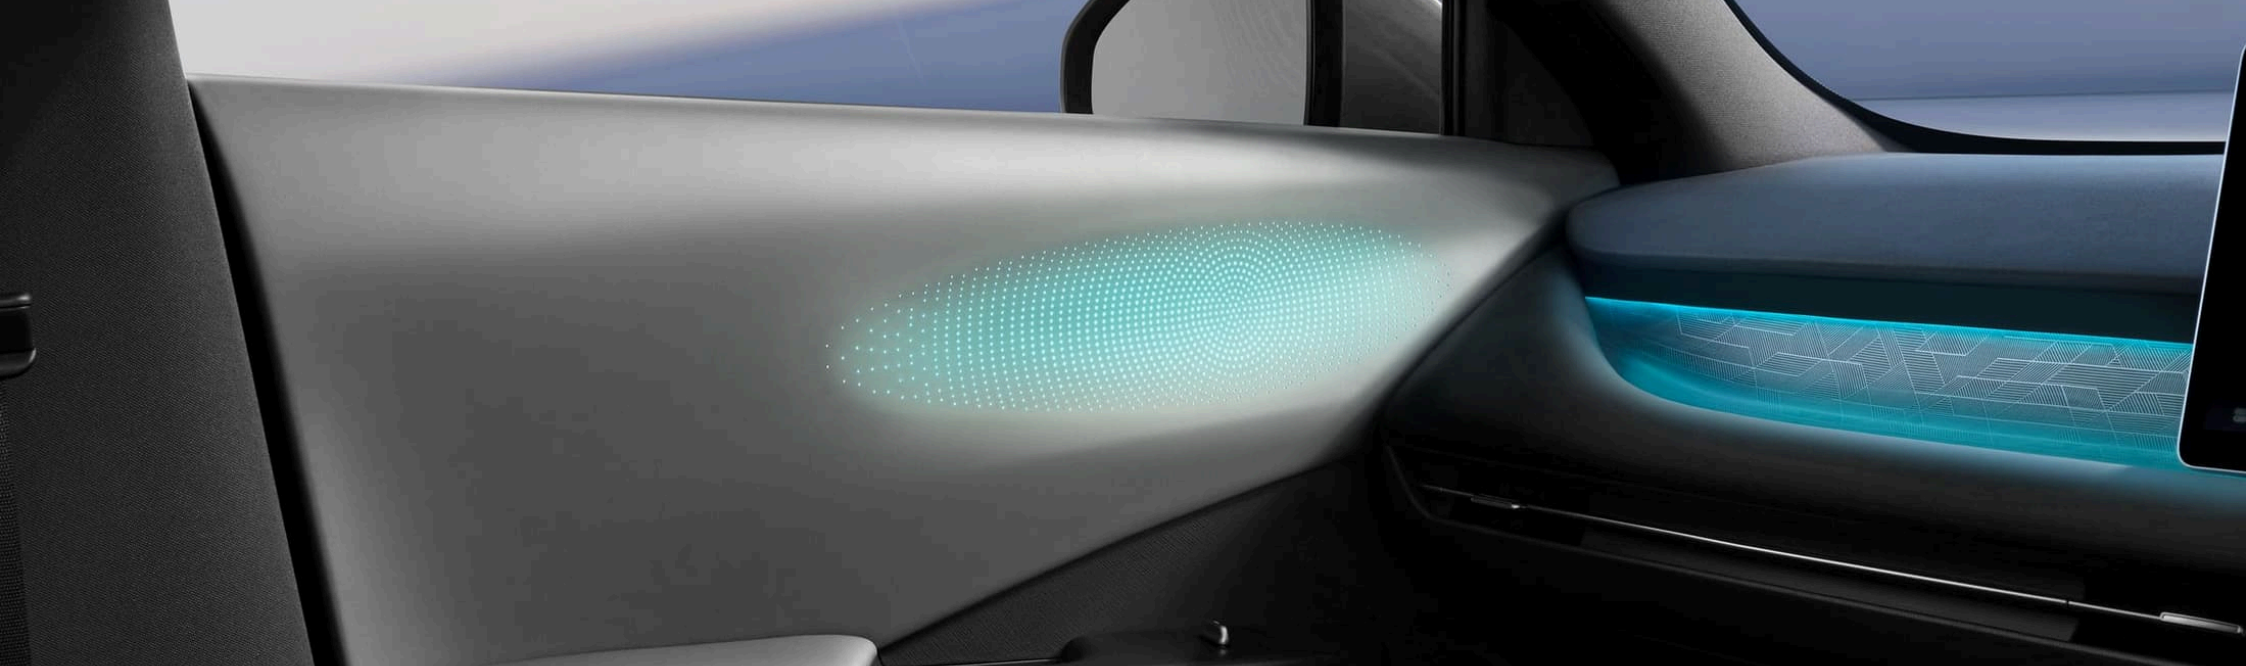

from 30 to 80 percent on a DC fast charger. Five minutes adds about 114 km.

471 km

on a charge, Dongfeng's CLTC figure. The heat pump air conditioning protects it in the heat.

Zero

oil changes, spark plugs, timing belts or exhaust. Less to service, less to go wrong.

LIGHT AND QUIET

A cabin that glows, and one you can hear yourself in.

A hidden strip of light breathes along the dashboard, and the door panels carry a ripple of ambient light in 128 colours that can pulse with the music. A soft light vanity mirror sits on both sun visors.

Under it all is 8.8 square metres of sound absorbing material at 37 points in the body. With no engine and the electric drive near silent at full power, the loudest thing in the cabin is the conversation.
