SEATS

The Dream 9 is VOYAH's newest seven-seat MPV, launched in China in September 2026. Compared with the Dream it has more power, bigger batteries and a second row built as a lounge: seats that rotate, slide sideways and recline to a zero-gravity position, under a 21.4-inch roof screen.

01

Zero-gravity second row

Second-row seats rotate, slide sideways, recline to a zero-gravity position and give a massage.

02

Rear cinema

A 21.4-inch 3K roof screen for the rear, twin 15.6-inch screens up front and a 29-inch augmented-reality head-up display.

03

35-speaker sound

VOYAH Sound with 35 speakers in a 9.1.6.8 layout on the upper versions; the Ultra has 22 speakers.

04

Limousine ride

Three-chamber air suspension, dual-valve adaptive dampers and 10-degree rear-wheel steering for tight U-turns.

05

Driver assistance

Huawei driver assistance with 37 sensors, including an 896-line lidar and three solid-state lidars.

06

Built to protect

11 airbags, a 2,200 MPa hot-formed steel body and rear-impact protection designed for 110 km/h.
