The Taishan is VOYAH's full-size luxury SUV and the larger of the two Taishan models, sold in China, Russia and Armenia. At 5,230 mm long it seats six in three rows of two, with a five-seat layout too, and on most versions the right-hand second-row seat reclines to a zero-gravity position. It is a plug-in hybrid with electric all-wheel drive, covering 350 km on electricity and 1,430 km in total (CLTC).

01

Zero-gravity seat

On most versions (not the China Max), the right-hand second-row seat reclines to a zero-gravity position, in both the five-seat and six-seat layouts, with wrap-around heating.

02

Rear entertainment

A 21.4-inch 3K overhead screen for passengers in the back.

03

55-inch head-up display

A 55-inch augmented-reality head-up display projects driving information ahead of the driver.

04

29-speaker sound

VOYAH Sound immersive audio with 29 speakers, in the five-seat version.

05

Air suspension and AWD

Tri-chamber air suspension and intelligent electric all-wheel drive.

06
